Community Engagement

As announced last week, the Municipality of South Bruce Council endorsed a report presented August 25th, which proposes a draft list of thirty-four guiding principles to assist the Municipality in their ongoing participation in the Adaptive Phased Management site selection process. As part of the Municipality's engagement, residents of South Bruce are able to give feedback on the draft list of principles via the community engagement tool, Switchboard (<https://southbruce-switchboard.ca/>).

Paper copies of the feedback form are available at the Municipal Office. The input received will be taken into consideration when the final draft report returns to Council for their review.

Please note that feedback – online or paper copies – must be received by the morning of September 18th, 2020! Several South Bruce residents have already submitted their feedback, and others are encouraged to do so. Thank you to those who have taken the time to share their thoughts.

Community Liaison Committee

- The Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission (CNSC) held a “Meet the Regulator” Webinar on the evening of Wednesday, September 16th for South Bruce residents, in relation to the Adaptive Phased Management (APM) Project. Questions submitted by community members last month were addressed by a panel of CNSC experts based on their areas of expertise.
- There are several upcoming events – outlined in the calendar – for South Bruce residents to participate in and/or learn more information related to the ongoing process of the APM Project! Stay tuned for information about our South Bruce Webinar, coming this October.
- Lunch & Learn! With the easing of some public health restrictions, the CLC will once again be facilitating Lunch & Learns. These one-hour presentations led by the NWMO's local team give an overview of the project over a lunch break – or any time that suits the host! Interested businesses, groups, service clubs, etc. can contact CLC Project Coordinator Vivian Kennedy at sbclc@southbruce.ca or 519-392-6623 to get more information and arrange a time.
